Author of “View from the Wolf’s Eye” to Sign Books at North Wind Books January 24

HANCOCK – Finlandia University’s North Wind Books, Hancock, will host a book signing for local author Carolyn Peterson Saturday, January 24, from 12:00 to 1:00 p.m., in conjunction with the City of Hancock’s Heikinpäivä mid-winter celebration.

Peterson will sign copies of her new book, “View from the Wolf’s Eye,” a memoir of the 37 summers she spent on Isle Royale, a National Park wilderness in Lake Superior, as wife and assistant to wolf and moose researcher Rolf Peterson.

The book reveals Carolyn Peterson’s deep relationship with Isle Royale based on her keen observations of the natural world, her efforts in raising a family in the wilderness, and her intense involvement in the on-going research.

“From a rustic cabin, over 37 summers, Carolyn Peterson emerges as a woman equally competent to skin a dead moose and bake a rhubarb pie, to carry a heavy pack behind her researcher husband and to wash diapers in a metal tub over an open fire. Her memoir is instructive, uplifting and inspiring...” writes Detroit Free Press columnist Susan Ager.
