Community Classes Begin Soon

HANCOCK – Finnish language and kantele classes will be offered at the Finlandia University Finnish American Heritage Center beginning next week.

Three 10-week Finnish language classes begin the week of January 12. All are held at the Finnish American Heritage Center, Hancock.

- Beginning Finnish, taught by Kaisa Randolph, is for those with no prior Finnish language experience. Class begins Wednesday, January 14, at 7:00 p.m.
- Continuing Finnish, taught by Kaisa Randolph, is a continuation of her fall beginning course. New students with some Finnish knowledge are also welcome. Class begins Tuesday, January 13, at 7:00 p.m.
- Intermediate Finnish, taught by Hannu Leppanen. Class begins Tuesday, January 13, at 7:00 p.m.

The cost of any of the Finnish courses is $50 per person, per class. All students must register in advance, including continuing students.

Two 8-week kantele classes begin the week of February 2. Both are held at the Finnish American Heritage Center, Hancock.

- 10-string Kantele, taught by Kay Seppala. Class begins Monday, February 2, at 5:30 p.m.
- 5-string Kantele, taught by Adrienne Hilman. Class begins Thursday, February 5, at 5:30 p.m.

The 8-week kantele classes cost $40.00 per person, per class. Students are urged to register in advance.
